

Figure, food and famine

B4- The challenge of industrial and factory farming

How are your eating habits relating to the graphic?

-I don't like to eat meat and I try to avoid eating a lot of meat because of the antibiotics some Industrial farmers feed their animals and in general, I try to not buy animal products that are based of factory farming. We often try, in my family, to not waste food or produce a lot of trash, so we use reusable water bottles or reusable grocery bags.