

figure, food and famine

(B.10) Sustainable fast food?

a) when ~~you~~ hear fast food ~~you~~ think ~~that~~ of meat which is from industrial farming.

But the headline makes the impression that ~~that~~ it is organic fast food. Where everything is produced without pesticides and without bad animal handling.

b) If you want to make a difference, you have to be it. It says that ~~there~~ ~~always~~ ~~there~~ must always be someone who starts.

And maybe it will impact a generation and then a change. (You have to start with small steps).

c) Where is this restaurant?

↳ In Los Angeles.

What is special about it?

↳ Roy Choi and Daniel Patterson.

Who opened the restaurant?

↳ the meat is mixed with gains and tofu and they use food which ~~is~~ would throw away somewhere else

What kind of music plays in the background?

↳ R&B and hip hop

How much costs a drink?

↳ It costs 1 $.

Who said "It's not to break the big chains"?

↳ Roy Choi

figure, food and famine

B. 10

c) The text "Healthy, sustainable, affordable and tasty fast food?" is about a ^{special} restaurant in Los Angeles. ~~It~~ In this restaurant the meat for the burgers is mixed with grains and tofo. They use food that gets thrown away somewhere else and the drinks only costs 1$.

The idea comes from Roy Choi and Daniel Patterson, they want to change what Americans eat.

I think it's a very cool and inspiring idea. It shows that we can all make a difference and create something new.