

Animal Factories

For the animals it is a bad thing if they live together in a small space and are fattened.

Factory farming spreads an incredible number of diseases.

When farmers then give antibiotics to the animals against the diseases, then we eat the antibiotics with them and it also harms us because it is much too much for the body.

