Growing up

Teenage
Life

↳ What is the article about?

The article is talking about being a teenager and how it is the worst time of our life. The article tells us all the things a teenager goes through or what they are supposed to do like Huge expectations, Hormones and puberty, Bullying, Love, Parents, Identity and other... It also tells us how stressful it is to be a teenager.

↳ Comment

Is being a teenager really the worst time of our life? Is it as stressful and tiring as some would say? I think that it is really hard being a teenager and I'm going to tell you why.

Huge expectations is a really big problem for the teenagers. It is like you are expected to do everything right. You have your parents on the one hand and your teachers on the other... and honestly <sup>it</sup> is very stressful because you don't want to let anybody down so you just do what is expected from you and you kind of forget about living your life. But not just that we can't forget about Hormones and puberty and the mood swings in the one minute you're happy in the other you're sad. Prom, the first love, finding who you are... that usually happens when you're a teenager.

I agree with the author. Being a teenager is the worst time of our life just because of the expectations that people have from teenagers. When you grow up you're just going to remember how hard you worked for the expectations and that you forgot to live your life.
