Can you think of reasons why people leave their countries today?

I think most people leave their countries because they can't live in there countries because of war. Others leave their countries because they can't get a good job and don't get enough money.

What other countries do you think are attractive to immigrants? Why?

I think immigrants go to Europe for example Germany, England or to Jordan, Lebanon
They cross the border into their neighbouring countries and often live there in so-called refugee camps for a long time.
