

Growing up

Finding one's identity

Outline:

Brian Little was talking about the puzzle of personality. How a person is "made of" and which qualities are for which type of person.

There are Extroverts and introverts, and these are qualities ~~which~~ which typical for those types.

So Brian is talking about who we are. And which characteristics that make us who we are.

Compare to my understanding:

So, the understanding of Brian Little and mine is different, because he's mostly talking about the Extroverts and Introverts.

He talked about things that I did not know yet, ~~but~~ especially the characteristics about an introvert.

But in my opinion these are more qualities that makes us who we are. Probably Brian is an expert in this theme and he is interested in it, ~~and~~ that's why he's talking about it.

But in my opinion, you can define the Personality not only on the extroverted and introverted.

There are more qualities like the sphere, friends, family, hobby and the way you were growing up.
